

SACMEN NEWS

November 2017

Vol 1, Issue 4

Current Events

SACMEN hosts a monthly Plática aimed at increasing success for male students of color. Guest speakers share their knowledge, expertise and story on how to overcome struggles and succeed. The October Plática featured Officer Chris Fairbank, who spoke on being a man of color in the workplace. From Broadway Ballet to a First Responder, Officer Fairbank's career and experiences are remarkable. He inspires and motivates SACMEN to never give up! Alamo College is very fortunate to have Officer Fairbank and we thank him for his ongoing support of students.

October 23, 2017. SACMEN with Officer Christopher Fairbank at the October Plática. Officer Fairbank shared his story and his insights of his successful career.

Mentor Spotlight

"Mentoring means providing guidance, support and sharing my experiences with a great young man. I am proud to see him succeed and move forward with his educational goals. We have great communication and we discuss his future goals. Okhai is like a brother and takes my advice."

--Manny Rosado, MSIT,
Coordinator of College Technology

"Manny is very involved and he gives great advice. He is full of resources and I can always get in touch with him. He gets me connected to things that I need."

--Okhai Omotuebe
Computer Programming Major

November Plática! Talks for Men

Thursday, November 16, 2017

Roy Juarez, Jr

"Developing the Leader Within"

NAHC 218 12 noon-2:00 pm

@MEN of SAC